Dr. J. W. Price Passes Away

Dr. James Ward Price, 77, died early Tuesday morning, May 7, 1946, following a long illness.

He was a son of the late Rev. William T. and Anna Randolph Price, and was born at Monterey, Va. November 21, 1868. He was married to Miss Lura M. Sharp of Ed-ray, who preceded him to the grave nearly 20 years ago. Dr. Price is survived by a son, W. L. Price, and a daughter, Julia Randolph Price; two sisters, Dr. Susan A. Price and Mrs. Anna V. Hunter, and two brothers, Dr. Norman R. Price and Calvin W. Price. Andrew Price, another brother, died 16 years ago.

Dr. Price had been a useful citizen of this county all of his life, in a career which included preparation as a teacher, following which he graduated in medicine, and was a physician here for 55 years. He was also a member of the West Virginia Legislature at one time.

In addition to his practice of medicine, the deceased was a leader in business affairs of the county, and was president of the Bank of Marlinton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Marlinton Presbyterian Church in charge of Rev. J. C. Wool. Interment will be made in the family plot in Mt. View Cemetery, and members of the Masonic lodge will conduct the rites at the grave.

The body of Dr. Price will be taken to the church Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

SOMEWHERE in this issue we can find the story of the election of officers for the Rod and Gun Club . . . Noteworthy is the selection of my friend Calvin W. Price to serve as president . . . I do not know who the immediate past president was, so there is nothing personal in my stating that it's high time the club chose a good man like Cal Price who, according to all I've heard, is blessed with a good imagination concerning the afield . . .

POCAHONTAS County has always enjoyed a rather enviable reputation as a sportsman's paradise, and is anxious to have this status maintained . . . and judging from current reports about finding traditional salt-water inhabitants in the ever increasingly fresh stream of Blackwater over in Tucker County the new president of the sportsmen's club will have his hands full to keep our status in the league . . .

BUT I'm sure Cal is equal to the task. In fact, I've heard it rumored that anyone who can find the tracks of panthers in Pocahontas County that have been claimed for this territory in his "Field Notes" and discourses won't have any trouble all digging up something to make the finding of an octopus in Blackwater pale into insignificance . . . Anyway, the bars are down and this Editor will be looking forward to the moment when Cal comes out of his present period of hibernation . . . This territory, the birthplace of seven rivers . . . gives him latitude for discovery . . .

Capt. Mason Fowler Killed In Accident in France

The family of Capt. Mason Fowler of the U. S. Engineers, formerly of Beverly, has been notified of his death in a motor car accident in France on December 23, 1945.

Captain Fowler was a son of Seymour and the late Emma Taylor Fowler and a grandson of the late Jacob and Clarissa Taylor of Dunmore. He is survived by his father, his wife, one son, Benjamin, of the U. S. Navy, three brothers, Moffett Bernard and Jacob, two sisters, Mrs. Loyd Manuel and Miss Virginia Fowler, and a large number of relatives in Randolph and Pocahontas counties.

The annual District Convention of Pocahontas County Rebekah Lodges was held in the hall of Lobelia Lodge No. 38 on Saturday evening, June 15, at 7:30 o'clock.

Following a delicious supper the Lodge was called into session. A Memorial service was presented by members of the Lobelia Lodge.

Sister Anderson gave the address of welcome and Sister McLaughlin of Marlinton Lodge No. 68 gave the response. Distinguished guests were introduced to the Lodge, including Sister Thorley, state president, Past President Sister Beavers, and Sister Kinnison, district deputy president.

Mrs. Virginia Anderson was elected secretary of the District and Mrs. Jerry McLaughlin, treasurer.

Reports of committees were made by Lou Wooddell, Jerry McLaughlin and Arlene Cutlip, which were accepted.

Legion and V.F.W. To Honor War Dead

Special Service Sunday; To Parade Memorial Day

It is indeed fitting that on this, the first Memorial Day since V-E and V-J Days, that our thoughts dwell with reverence, not only on our boys and girls who gave their all in the past war, but also on our heroic dead of all wars. The thought, so well expressed by Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg, "That we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that Government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth," places a solemn obligation on all of us to keep alive that freedom that cost so much, in sacrifice of blood, to win and preserve.

Pocahontas Post No. 50, American Legion, has invited the Seneca Trail Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to join with them in this Memorial observance. A special service will be held Memorial Sunday, May 26, at 3 p. m., at the Marlinton Methodist Church, at which time Aubrey E. Ferguson, a veteran of the last

Cass Officer Fatally Wounds Young Attacker

Charles Adams, aged about 25, died early Tuesday morning at the Poca-hontas Memorial Hospital, as a result of a gunshot wound in the abdomen, sustained in an encounter with Town Sergeant J. C. Wooddell at Cass last Saturday.

Adams, it is said, had been jailed on a disorderly conduct charge, and when the town sergeant came to the jail with another prisoner, Adams is alleged to have attacked the officer with a heavy stove poker, and in the ensuing fight Wooddell inflicted the fatal injury to defend himself.

Adams is reported to have been a resident of the Glady section of this county, and had been employed on a log job near Durbin.

Troopers Nab Car With 107 Quarts of Liquor Here

Troopers of the local State Police detachment made a haul of 107 quarts of assorted liquors, when they stopped a car on Price Hill last Wednesday evening. The car was bearing a set of Maryland license plates which investigation proved to be a "lost" set from that state.

The driver of the liquor car was not taken, due to the fact that he jumped out of the vehicle, rolled over the embankment and made his escape.

and problems of the new and constructed auction are discussed. Plans are being made to get the market under way at the beginning of the current year.

Attention was expressed by the railroad officials present that a livestock train running day a week could be obtained by everyone and all concerned livestock would cooperate. Each pointed out that the black market presented a threat to an honest market and that it would be brought to an end by shippers many times during the current marketing season.

Fliers Rescue Women and Children from Horror Camps

EACH CARRYING TO SAFETY about 40 to 50 passengers, Sunderland flying-boats of a Royal Air Force squadron are continually making flights from Batavia to the British naval base of Singapore. By such flying mercy missions over 12,000 civil internees have been rescued by the British since last September, but thousands more still wait for help to reach them in Java horror camps into which they were thrown by the Japs over 3½ years ago. Pictured here are the fliers helping Dutch women and children into boats that will take them to the flying-boats anchored off-shore.

Several Changes Effected; Board Also Plans for Teacher Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Pocahontas County Board of Education on August 20, the board arranged the placement of teachers for the coming term, which opens on September third.

Among other matter was the planning of a program for the county teachers' meeting to be held here on September 2 at 10 a. m. Dean A. M. Smith of the Department of Education of Marshall College will be the principal speaker at the meeting. A representative of Child Welfare from Charleston, and a program from the State Education Association with Phares Reeder, executive secretary, in charge, also were included in the plans for the day.

In addition to the program many matters of importance will be presented to the teachers, among them the election of delegates and alternates to S. E. A., the election of members of the Executive Committee of the County Education Association, and the election of officers for the Classroom Teachers Association.

The board announced the list of teachers and schools as follows:

sary

Several Changes Effected; Board Also Plans for Teacher Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Pocahontas County Board of Education on August 20, the board arranged the placement of teachers for the coming term, which opens on September third.

Among other matter was the planning of a program for the county teachers' meeting to be held here on September 2 at 10 a. m. Dean A. M. Smith of the Department of Education of Marshall College will be the principal speaker at the meeting. A representative of Child Welfare from Charleston, and a program from the State Education Association with Phares Reeder, executive secretary, in charge, also were included in the plans for the day.

In addition to the program many matters of importance will be presented to the teachers, among them the election of delegates and alternates to S. E. To Preach at West View Christian Church

Foster G. Sizemore, above, minister of University Heights Christian Church, Indianapolis, Ind., will preach at West View Christian Church next Sunday morning and evening, August 18. West View Christian Church is located on the Lobelia road, 4 miles west of Hillsboro. This church is one of the newest in the county, but its brief history has been one of progress.

Mr. Sizemore, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sizemore of the Lobelia Community, graduate in the 1933 class at Hillsboro high school, and has received his college and university training at Kentucky Christian College, Grayson, Ky., and Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind. He has preached in Indianapolis for the past five years.

A hearty invitation is given to everyone to attend these services.

Remodeling which has been in progress on the former bowling alley building, seemed to be nearing completion this week with the finishing touches put on the big plate glass window front. The building is the property of J. E. Buckley. It has not been definitely learned what nature of business is to be opened there.

The Methodist Church has been painted and men are rounding out repairs to put the church in readiness for the observance of its Fiftieth Anniversary on August 25.

Harry Sharp has "put on a new front" at his establishment on Main street, where everything has been freshly painted.

Glenn Shrader of The Shrader Store has recently laid a new floor throughout his building.

Alderman Homecoming

The annual Homecoming of the Alderman Family Party will be held at the Alderman Picnic Grounds on Douthards Creek the first Sunday in September instead of the second Sunday as had been formerly announced. All relatives and friends are cordially invited to be present.

There will be a Song Service at Frost Church Sunday, August 18, at 2:30 o'clock. All singers are invited to join in this service. The public is welcome.

REV. NEEL IN NEW WORK

Samuel R. Neel, Jr., Ph. D., is now director of student work under the Inter-Church Student Council in Kalamazoo, Mich.

The council is composed of four church denominations, Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian.

Rev. Neel is a nephew of Harper M. Smith of Marlinton.

Across the road from the farm lie 540 acres of grazing and wood lands owned by Mrs. Kennison. Neighbors lease part of the pasture for cattle, and a lumbering operation has been in progress on the wood land for more than a year.

At the time of the Farming for Better Living reporter's visit to the farm this summer, the Kennison's were milking four cows, three of them with calves, and selling cream. They had 11 head of dairy stock, most of them Guernseys, with a few Jerseys. A purebred Guernsey bull that formerly headed the herd was sold last year. Calves, except heifers, are sold for veal.

The sheep flock includes 40 Shropshire type ewes, and the spring lamb crop numbered 44. A purebred Shropshire ram headed the flock last year. Wool was marketed through the county wool pool. The flock has been treated for parasites with phenothiazine, nicotine sulphate and blue stone. Mr. Kennison planned, however, to keep a PTZ-salt mixture for this purpose.

Richwood Couple Hold Wedding Party Here

Landacre's Restaurant in Marlinton was the scene of a bridal party dinner following a recent Richwood ter grazing. In addition to the lime that he obtains through the A.A.A., he burns some of his own and expects to burn more when labor is available. This year he had 36 acres of meadow, 15 acres of corn, six acres of oats and three acres of wheat.

At the entrance to the Kennison farm is a fine old maple grove of 125 to 150 trees. Due to the late opening of the camp last spring, the yield was only about 30 gallons of syrup. With the honey from 10 stands of bees, the sugar shortage does not worry the Kennisons.

With a nice family garden, several grape vines, scattered pear and apple trees and a brood sow to provide meat for next winter, the food situation was well in hand.

The Kennisons have three daughters, two of whom are married: Mrs. Dice Grimes of Marlinton, and Mrs. J. S. Kellison of Hillsboro. The third, Virginia, is employed in Marlinton.

Mr. Kennison is a member of the Pocahontas County Farm Bureau.

CHESTNUT WOOD IS STILL URGENTLY NEEDED

The Government is still using large quantities of leather and paper, and civilian needs are requiring more and more.

The Mead Corporation - Heald Division Lynchburg, Virginia

MAKES CHESTNUT WOOD SERVE A DOUBLE PURPOSE

- First: The Tannin Extract is leached from the wood chips. This chestnut is still the best tannin for heavy leathers.
- Second: Mead uses the same Chestnut Wood, from which extract has been leached, to manufacture heavy and paperboard for wrapping and shipping cases, for packing foods, clothing, materials, etc., going to our Armed Forces and Civilians.

All farmers who have Chestnut Wood on their land are urged to cut and sell this wood while it is now needed and the market is good. If you don't have any chestnut, buy some from your neighbor, or join him in cutting and getting out some.

Specifications

The Chestnut Wood must be sound, either dead or green, with bark on or off. Decayed, shelly wood, rough, crooked laps and round sticks less than 4 inches in diameter at the small end will not be accepted in measurement. All wood to be sawed, not chopped, in full 5 foot lengths, knots trimmed off. Sticks from 4 to 8 inches must not be split. Sticks over 8 inches not to be split more than necessary to reduce it to approximately an 8 inch size.

Public Meeting On Hospital

Scores of county persons packed the court room at the Pocahontas County court house Tuesday afternoon for the public meeting held in the interest of finding a way to continue operation of the Pocahontas Memorial Hospital. Z. S. Smith, Jr., president of the county court, presided over the meeting.

Following the discussions motions were made and passed to endeavor to raise sufficient funds by public subscription to keep the hospital going until the end of the court's fiscal year in July. In the meantime the court will authorize a vote to be held at the August election to decide on a special levy to meet future expense at the hospital.

It was also voted to have the court appoint a committee of disinterested persons to make an investigation of the affairs of the hospital from last July until the time of its closing on the 31st of January.

At a brief after-session district leaders were chosen to organize committees to assist them in raising the funds needed to meet immediate obligations of the hospital.

ENROLLED IN FARM PROGRAM

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Waugh, Pocahontas County farm people, are pictured above in a porch swing at their hill-top home south of Marlinton. They are enrollees in the Farming for Better Living program operating for the first time this year in the county. The dog between them claims a place in the picture by reason of his services as a farm hand.

THE other day, on the way from Lewisburg I stopped at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Mann (parents of Mary C. Mann). At the Mann home, where I was busy in the harvest, the greatest profusion of flowers have been seen in many a day. Less varieties, growing in a small of available space on all the residence blend with the great old pine trees standing in the yard to give the kind of feeling you dream about. In addition, the manner of the hostess, nothing much to be desired, was a way of a greeting for you.

W. B. Waugh Operates One of This County's Fine Farms

Although poor health and scarcity of help have compelled W. B. Waugh to give up his dairy, which for several years supplied many residents of Marlinton with milk, he still conducts an extensive farming operation on the 407-acre place just south of the county seat that he took over from an uncle eight years ago. Mr. Waugh is enrolled in the Farming for Better Living program, which has been organized by farm leaders and business men in Pocahontas County this year for the first time.

Last September, Mr. Waugh sold 32 dairy cows. Prior to that time tons of milk daily. Although devoting most of his attention to beef cattle and sheep, he still has five milk cows and sells cream as a steady revenue producer. In the beef herd there are 80 head of Hereford and Angus cattle, most of which are steers. The number includes, however, 25 heifers and a purebred Angus bull, which are the foundation of a cow and calf business which Mr. Waugh expects to develop.

There are 63 ewes and two Hampshire rams in the sheep flock, which last spring produced 92 lambs. Twenty-eight of the ewes are half-Corriedale and their fleeces last spring averaged around eight pounds, compared to the four and five-pound fleeces of the other ewes. Mr. Waugh plans to develop a Corriedale-Hampshire cross strain in his flock. His wool is marketed through

MAJOR W. E. HOLY LEAVES FOR PERU

Major W. E. Holy, sanitary engineer (R), Public Health Service, of Washington, D. C., has been assigned to the Pan American Sanitary Bureau Sector office at Lima, Peru, in 1934, 10 1/2 acres of hybrid corn, eight acres of oats and seven acres of wheat will provide winter feed for the stock. All the meadows have been limed, and the older ones were top-dressed with phosphate last year. Part of the 300 acres of pasture was treated with phosphate, and the difference between the treated and untreated parts can be plainly seen, Mr. Waugh says. He plans to treat more of it later.

There are a number of scattered fruit trees, including some young peach trees set out in recent years, a nice family garden which yields ample produce for summer consumption and for canning, and 12 stands of bees on the farm.

Mr. Waugh is a member of the Pocahontas Farm Bureau and is enrolled in the soil conservation program, with a farm plan worked out for his place.

A check for $3,300,000 was filed in the registry of the federal court at Charleston last week representing "just compensation for the property" which was formerly the Greenbrier hotel at White Sulphur Springs, and which has now been converted into an Army hospital.

Included in the transaction with the hotel were the cottages, casino, stables, three golf courses and 6,522 acres of land making up the famous resort which had been operated for many years by White Sulphur Springs, Inc., and the Chesapeake and Ohio railway.

There are now approximately 283 patients at the hospital, several of whom are evacuees from the Philippines. About 150 arrived on December 23 from the East Coast and it is reported that the soldiers in this contingent are from England and Ireland.

Dr. Little, Retired Physician, Succumbs Mon.; Buried Wed.

Was Graduate of University of Baltimore; Practiced at Huttonsville, in Randolph, and Greenbank.

Dr. L. L. Little, the son of Marcus W. and Mary Matilda Little was born in Marion County, West Virginia, April 24, 1867, died at his home in Marlinton, West Virginia, September 24, 1928, aged 61 years and five months.

He received his medical education at the University of Baltimore, and first located for practice of his profession at Huttonsville, Randolph County, and after remaining there for two years, in 1894 he moved to Greenbank, this county, where he remained until about five years ago. On account of failing health he retired from the active practice and moved to Marlinton where he has made his home ever since.

On February 9, 1888, he was united in marriage to Miss Eva Welch, of Fairmont. He is survived by his widow and three daughters, Mrs. Lelia L. Flenner, of Durbin, Mrs. May F. Hiner, of Marlinton, and Mrs. Mary Myrtle Pifer, of Cannonsburg, Pennsylvania, and two granddaughters, Jean Pifer and Sue Hiner, and one son, Charles Brooks died in infancy.

He united with the Marlinton Presbyterian Church upon his profession of faith in Jesus Christ in 1925, and ever since, although prevented by ill health from attending the services of his church, a faithful and zealous follower of his Lord and Master, and a devoted student of the Bible. His favorite passages of scripture were Isaiah 40: 31; 41: 10-13, and John 25: 10-12. Just before he lapsed into unconsciousness in his last illness he requested his loving and devoted wife to repeat the Lord's Prayer.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon, Wednesday by Rev. Fred Gray, at the West Liberty Church, Greenbank, and interment made in the Greenbank cemetery.

MRS. PAGE FRIEL

Mrs. Mary Margaret Kimbal Friel passed into the Great Beyond on June 2, 1927. She was 37 years of age and is survived by her husband and their five children, Joseph Edward, Leola, Viola, Olive and Audrey; also her father and mother and two brothers. She united with the Brethren church when quite young and passed from this life with the full assurance of a brighter and better world awaiting her just over the border land. Her remains were laid to rest in the Fairview cemetery. Let us cherish the thought that when our life work is ended we will join her in that "better home awaiting in the sky."

The battle of Elkwater was the Civil War battle that was never fought. There was some slaughter but both sides drew back without going on with the great conflict that was staged. Both sides were on the defensive. The federal forces were dug in in Tygarts Valley, Randolph county, below the mouth of the considerable creek called Elkwater, for the purpose of holding the confederates from marching into the northwestern part of West Virginia, and the confederates were entrenched on Middle Mountain to hold the federal army from marching through Marlinton, Huntersville, and Warm Springs, and taking possession of the Virginia Central Railroad at Millboro. That is the reason that both armies were content to face each other for eight weeks during the summer months of 1861.

Robert E. Lee to the end of the war shone more as a defensive strategist than he did in his offensive movements. In this he was the antithesis of Stonewall Jackson who came down on them like a wolf in the fold. Note Lee's failure in the Gettysburg campaign.

The federal forces were flushed with the victories of Philippi, Rich Mountain and Carrick's Ford. McClellan had won these and it made him commander in chief, so he went to Washington to take charge of the far flung battlelines, and left General Reynolds to make a fortified camp at Elkwater, while General Rosecrans marched on to Kanawha.

Mountain and Carrick's Ford. McClellan had won these and it made him commander in chief, so he went to Washington to take charge of the far flung battlelines, and left General Reynolds to make a fortified camp at Elkwater, while General Rosecrans marched on to Kanawha.

The road from Marlinton to Elkwater, now called the Seneca Trail is almost due north and south. From Marlinton it is more or less up hill for seven miles until it tops Elk Mountain. Then it descends a short distance to the upper waters of Elk River and follows the Old Field Fork down for about nine miles to the forks, crossing Slaty Fork near its mouth, there to the Big Spring of Elk Fork. The pike follows this stream to the postoffice Linwood, four miles, and then continues north ascending Middle Mountain two miles, then across a head of a hollow about a mile to the top of Valley Mountain, the line between Randolph County and Pocahontas County, and thence about ten miles to the Elkwater fort. It was an important pike at the beginning of the Civil War, being one of the Commonwealth's highways, under the internal improvement schemes that Virginia had engaged in so heavily for thirty-odd years immediately prior to the war.

The country is, and was at that time nearly all cleared and the road lined with fine farms between Marlinton and Elkwater.

The union army had won signal victories in Randolph and Tucker counties July 11, 12, and 13, 1861, and the news had just time to spread over the nation for a general rejoicing, when on July 21st, the confederates won a big battle at Bull Run and convinced the north that there was serious trouble ahead.

McClelland was ordered to leave some one in command in the mountains and get the war going again.

He arranged to hold the confederates back. The immense size of the ditch and bank at Elkwater is still to be noticed. So it is not surprising to find an order to the effect that this was to be an extra big barrier, as well as the one on Cheat mountain. That is evidence enough that the

McClelland was ordered to leave some one in command in the mountains and get the war going again.

He arranged to hold the confederates back. The immense size of the ditch and bank at Elkwater is still to be noticed. So it is not surprising to find an order to the effect that this was to be an extra big barrier, as well as the one on Cheat mountain. That is evidence enough that the federals did not propose to advance any farther into the enemy's country that summer but would hold what they had won in the northern part of West Virginia and concentrate on driving Wise and Floyd out of the Kanawha Valley.

Keynolds made the fort at Elkwater, and Kimball of the Fourteenth Indiana regiment, made the one at Cheat Summit generally referred to as White Top, where a man by the name of White lived. The Cheat Summit camp was on the Staunton & Parkersburg turnpike and this road ran south east from Huttons-Reynolds made the fort at Elkwater, and Kimball of the Fourteenth Indiana regiment, made the one at Cheat Summit generally referred to as White Top, where a man by the name of White lived. The Cheat Summit camp was on the Staunton & Parkersburg turnpike and this road ran south east from Huttonsville, gradually leaving the pike from that place to Marlinton. Cheat Summit is almost due east from Elkwater where the camp was and a trail led down the mountain making a short cut seven miles long between the two places. The wagon roads around by Huttonsville between the camps covered a distance of eighteen miles.

These camps were formed on or about the 13th or 14th of July. The first troops of the confederates to arrive at Middle Mountain were the Bath Cavalry on July 28th, followed by Col. Stephen Lee, with the Sixth North Carolina regiment. The plan of fortifying Valley Mountain and Middle Mountain was the result of a report made by William Skeen, an attorney of Huntersville, who furnished a map of the country, and who pointed out the location of the about the 13th or 14th of July. The first troops of the confederates to arrive at Middle Mountain were the Bath Cavalry on July 28th, followed by Col. Stephen Lee, with the Sixth North Carolina regiment. The plan of fortifying Valley Mountain and Middle Mountain was the result of a report made by William Skeen, an attorney of Huntersville, who furnished a map of the country, and who pointed out that the Virginia Central Railway was exposed to an attack at Millboro as much as it was at Staunton' and that the distance by turnpike much less than to Staunton.

In the meantime troops had been pouring into Staunton from all over the south and had been routed by way of Monterey on the Staunton and Parkersburg pike. The information furnished by Skeen was seized upon immediately by Robert E. Lee at Richmond, and he had a good deal of trouble getting the officers at Staunton to cease to send troops by Monterey and to detrain them at Millboro. His preemptory orders and Parkersburg pike. The information furnished by Skeen was seized upon immediately by Robert E. Lee at Richmond, and he had a good deal of trouble getting the officers at Staunton to cease to send troops by Monterey and to detrain them at Millboro. His preemptory orders finally resulted in long columns of men being marched by the southern route by Warm Springs, Huntersville, Marlinton and Edray. William Skeen was a prominent man in the history of Pocahontas counuy. He had been clerk of the courts before the war, and then practised law. He was noted for his fine penmanship and his flights of oratory. The Commonwealth was referred to by him as the "virgin daughter of a virgin queen," and he was fighting for the idea of states' rights.

This was the officer who had outranked Robert E. Lee but who took his orders from Lee. But it was not long until Lee himself came to the mountains and took over the command. He arrived at Valley Mountain August 8th, and from that time to September 14th, that was Headquarters of the Forces, that title traveling with Lee from Richmond to the Big Spring.

Here is a list of the headquarters in West Virginia during the wet summer of 1861. Lee was at Valley Mountain from August 8 to August 15; at Meadow Bluff on September 24; and at Sewell Mountain, on October 20. During 1861, all of Robert E. Lee's activities in camp were confined to West Virginia, the rest of the time being spent at Richmond.

At Clarksburg was another West Virginia lawyer who was willing to advise the war department from the

At Clarksburg was another West Virginia lawyer who was willing to advise the war department from the federal side. John S. Carlile, on Aueron, secretary of war, for God's sake to send more troops and a gen-be whipped in ten days. That four confederate armies were marching on the northwest by Mingo Flats, and that the Mingo Flats road was

And about this time another defender was brought to light. It was a bushwhacker. By a letter dated July 19, 1861, General H. R. Jackson wrote to headquarters that he had recruited home guards to the number of one hundred and eighty men, and that as all of them had corn to work, he had agreed that if they left eighty of their best riflemen that the rest might return to their crops. These eighty riflemen were familiar with the country and were to "annoy the enemy from the hills and bushes."

So the mountain armies filled the passes and watched each other during the weeks of August and the first part of September. In the federal camp at Elkwater were two companies from Indiana who were in gray uniform and these men mingled with the confederates in their big camp at Valley Mountain. On Sunday the 8th of September a scouting party got as far as Mingo from the Elkwater and had a skirmish at four o'clock in the morning of the 9th in which they reported having killed fifteen secessionists and wounded as many more. And they learned that a general advance was to take place that day and they fell back with the news. And it is now seen that Lee made a general order to advance dated September 9.

they reported having killed fifteen secessionists and wounded as many more. And they learned that a general advance was to take place that day and they fell back with the news. And it is now seen that Lee made a general order to advance dated September 9.

A few weeks ago, I had a chapter on the way the confederate forces got lost in the Cheat River jungles about Cheat Bridge and thereby prevented Lee from having a pitched battle at Elkwater. These troops were from the army at Bartow and they were to pass through the laurel and the hobblerod in the night time to the south of the camp at Cheat Summit and that after much suffering and many hardships they came straggling back, defeated, weary and discouraged. In studying the evidence that is left of the Elkwater affair, I have found out something more about that lost legion. They attempted to go through the wilderness on the night of the 11th of September. None of the pickets or sentinels of the federal camp on the mountain knew that any such movement was taking place.

aged. In studying the evidence that is left of the Elkwater affair, I have lost legion. They attempted to go through the wilderness on the night of the 11th of September. None of the pickets or sentinels of the federal camp on the mountain knew that any such movement was taking place.

This is conclusive that they did not top the mountain on the pike. And early in the morning there were parts of three regiments which had passed by the camp and gotten to the pike in the rear, for early that morning, the 12th, three army wagons started from Cheat Summit for supplies, and they rolled into the confederate army about a mile west of the encampment and were captured. The number of confederate soldiers on the pike west and in the rear of the confederates were estimated by the federal officers to be twenty-five hundred men. They

The number of confederate soldiers on the pike west and in the rear of the confederates were estimated by the federal officers to be twenty-five hundred men. They took the horses and men and disappeared in thick forest.

From this time on the skirmishing in the big forests of Cheat assumed the character of Indian fighting. Later in the day a company of Indiana troops caught sight of some confederates four miles west of the camp at the summit and had a battle with them, the federal troops remaining in the road and the confederates disappearing in the timber.

It now appears that these Indiana troops had been camped in the dense spruce for full two months and the active young soldiers had nothing better to do than to become thoroughly acquainted with the wonders of such a wilderness. Few of them had ever seen a mountain or a forest of any great extent before. They had

Few of them had ever seen a mountain or a forest of any great extent before. They had roamed in the mountains hunting and fishing and having as good a time as they could under the circumstances, and in the battle in the woods they had the soldiers who had come from Arkansas and other southern states at a great disadvantage. The object of the confederate flanking movement was to get in behind the Summit camp and take another

But On the 12th the big army on Valley Mountain moved forward. About half way between the Valley Mountain camp and Elkwater fort, is the town of Valley Head. This is the point that the Webster county road, the Point Mountain pike, joins the Seneca Trail and the federal forces had been maintaining an advance guard at that point.

The confederate army at this point was about nine thousand strong, and after a battle at the forks of the road at Valley Head, the federals fell back and the confederates did not advance. Along the road which follows the river bottom the land was cleared, but between that strip of settled country and the great Cheat Mountain there is a great stretch of broken wooded country through which many streams flow down from Cheat mountain to the Valley River. These regiments marched all day and pike to the west of the Summit and cut the telegraph wire between the General Reynolds found by nightfall on the 12th, that he was in a precarious position. Both roads to the Summit camp were in possession of the enemy. The wagon train had been captured, and his own wagon train loaded for supplies for the Summit camp and which were badly needed, had no chance to get through.

So about three in the morning of Friday, the Thirteenth, he sent one army to open up the wagon road, and another army to open the bridle path.

As a matter of fact, it would appear that the confederates had about fifty five hundred men in the woods around Cheat Summit and that they

So about three in the morning of Friday, the Thirteenth, he sent one army to open up the wagon road, and another army to open the bridle path.

As a matter of fact, it would appear that the confederates had about fifty-five hundred men in the woods around Cheat Summit and that they were literally scattered all over a rugged country like a band of sheep that had lost their shepherd. It was the second night in bad weather and there was no way to form a cohesive force out of them. In the meantime those Indiana boys who had been loafing there all summer and probably knew every trout up there by its given name, were ready to harry the strangers out of there, and at break of day on Friday, the Thirteenth,

About this time some confederates appeared on the pike about a mile east of the summit and surrounded a picket post and a lieutenant and a private of the federals were killed.

Learning that a whip chase was underway to the west and that the confederates were working out towards the Greenbrier River, with the Indiana boys driving them, the commander at the Summit sent some companies of soldiers east over the pike and had them line Cheat River above the bridge, and a battle was confederates were working out towards the Greenbrier River, with the Indiana boys driving them, the commander at the Summit sent some companies of soldiers east over the pike and had them line Cheat River above the bridge, and a battle was fought on that river about two miles above that bridge at a point near where the Cheat Mountain Clubhouse now stands.

The confederate reports are missing as to this encounter, but the federal reports are very positive. They are sure that all the regiments, both from Valley Mountain and from Camp Bartow had been rounded up and were being driven toward the Greenbrier, and that when they were stopped by three hundred men at some point on the river near the clubhouse, that the confederates numbered fifty-five hundred men. These men were driven back into the wilderness and it was not until about ten o'clock that night that they got back to Camp Bartow. Kimball says that the result of the panic in the confederate ranks was that the woods were literally covered with the baggage, coats, haversacks, and other articles abandoned by the enemy.

Not if this is true, it is not to be wondered that Lee looked in vain for his proud regiments to come stepping up the broad fields of Tygart's Valley, with flags flying, and drums beating, to take the federals in the rear, while he marched his victorious legions down the valley to storm the federal works and take West Virginia into the confederacy.

It is no wonder that Col. John A. Washington rode down by the mouth of Elkwater with a squad of men, to get around the bend so that he could see the confederate columns advancing up the river to support the attack. And that not seeing such an army that he should have ventured nearer and nearer the fortification so that he could make a thorough search, until so close that he was shot and killed.

Col. Rust was ordered out of Cheat mountain with his command to get to Bartow as soon as he could and send a dispatch to General Loring by the "near way", Loring was no doubt that day at Valley Mountain. "Get Mr. Arbogast to take the dispatch, if possible." Probably J. H. Arbogast, whose plantation was on the site of the town of Durbin. He is described as the postmaster.

In the meantime on Friday, the Thirteenth, Lee's army edged down the stream from Valley Head, to a point as low down as the mouth of Elkwater some miles above the Elkwater fort. They did not give battle, waiting no doubt for the flanking army that never came, but the federals had a rifled gun that shot a ten pound ball that they ran out about three quarters of a mile, and fired a few rounds at the confederates who withdrew a short distance. That confederate army lay about the mouth of Elkwater creek all day on the 13th, and on the 14th they were still there. Reynolds said that on the 14th that another confederate force was chased by the Summit camp. And that on the 15th there was another confederate army on top of the mountain that was defeated.

MINNEHAHA COMMUNITY MEETING

Minnehaha had her first community meeting in the M. E. church, Friday night, November 18. J. C.
Harper was in charge. The subject was Community Spirit. The County Agent discussed the subject of working together and the value of community work. Papers were read on Community History. Churches, by H. Lee White; schools, by Miss Mamie White; Community, by J. C.
Harper.

An entertaining program was given by the school children entitled "The First Thanksgiving in America," which was appropriate and well prepared.

Mrs. E. J. Wilson is general chairman for the community. A good crowd was present and a great deal of interest was manifest. The Extension Division is going to publish for this community their history when prepared.

The subject for the next meeting will be a Community Christmas Tree.
Mrs. Wilson in charge. Minnehaha has caught the idea and as the Greeks expressed it in a proverb—"Arise and let us be going for this is not our resting place." Minnehaha is moving forward.
